Artist Statement

Xiuching Tsay is a Thai born painter. Currently living in London, attending MA Painting at Royal College of Art. Her work is essentially to irradiate the objects of memories, resurrect their essences and rediscover their hidden characters through an ecstatic quality of vision. She adopts the concept of hallucination in order to recondition her perceptions toward the intimated objects. This hallucinatory practice is experimented with the concept of water because water has both metaphoric and substantial qualities that unfold infinite visions as water melts all the possible subject matters into the most ambiguous forms.
